Article 6 - Right of withdrawal

For products:

1. The consumer may dissolve a contract relating to the purchase of a product for a period of at least 14 days without giving reasons. The entrepreneur may ask the consumer for the reason for withdrawal, but do not oblige them to state their reasons.
2. The reflection period referred to in paragraph 1 shall commence on the day after the consumer, or a third party designated by the consumer, who is not the carrier, received the product, or:
 - A. If the consumer has ordered multiple products in the same order: the date on which the consumer, or a third party designated by him, received the last product. The entrepreneur may, if he has informed the consumer clearly in advance of the ordering process, refuse an order of multiple products with a different delivery time.
 - B. If the delivery of a product consists of different consignments or parts: the date on which the consumer, or a third party designated by him, received the last consignment or the last item;

C. For regular delivery of products for a certain period of time: the date on which the consumer, or a third party designated by him, received the first product.

For services and digital content not provided on a material carrier:

3. The consumer may dissolve a service agreement and a non-material delivery agreement for a minimum of 14 days without giving reasons. The entrepreneur may ask the consumer for the reason for withdrawal, but do not oblige them to state their reasons.

4. The period referred to in paragraph 3 shall enter into the day following the conclusion of the agreement.

Extended length of time for products, services and digital content not provided on a material basis by non-disclosure of withdrawal rights:

5. If the entrepreneur has not provided the consumer with statutory information on the right of withdrawal or the model for revocation, the period of refusal shall expire twelve months after the end of the original period of consideration determined in accordance with the previous paragraphs of this Article.

6. If the entrepreneur has provided the consumer with the information referred to in the preceding paragraph within twelve months after the date of commencement of the original appraisal period, the period of notice shall expire 14 days after the date on which the consumer has received that information.

Article 7 - Obligations of the consumer during the appraisal period

1. During the bedtime, the consumer will carefully handle the product and the packaging. He will only extract or use the product to the extent necessary to determine the nature, characteristics and operation of the product. The starting point here is that the consumer can only handle and inspect the product as he should do in a store.

2. The consumer is solely responsible for impairment of the product resulting from a way of dealing with the product beyond that permitted in paragraph 1.

3. The consumer is not liable for impairment of the product if the entrepreneur has not provided him with all statutory mandatory information on the right of withdrawal before or upon the conclusion of the agreement.

Article 8 - Exercise of the right of withdrawal by the consumer and the costs thereof

1. If the consumer makes use of his right of withdrawal, he will report this within the term of office by means of the model form for revocation or otherwise unambiguously to the entrepreneur.

2. As soon as possible, but within 14 days of the day following the notification referred to in paragraph 1, the consumer shall return the product, or hand it over to (an authorized representative) of the entrepreneur. This does not have to be taken if the entrepreneur has offered the product itself. In any case, the consumer has complied with the return period when he returns the product before the time has expired.

3. The consumer will ship the product back with all delivered accessories, if reasonably possible in original condition and packaging, and in accordance with the reasonable and clear instructions provided by the entrepreneur.

4. The risk and burden of proof for the right and timely exercise of the right of withdrawal lies with the consumer.

5. The consumer shall bear the direct cost of returning the product. If the entrepreneur has not reported that the consumer has to bear these costs or if the entrepreneur decides to bear the costs himself, the consumer does not have to bear the cost of returning.

6. If the consumer revokes after having first explicitly requested that the service or supply of gas, water or electricity not ready for sale be limited or a certain amount commences during the contemplation period, the consumer is the An entrepreneur owed an amount proportional to that part of the undertaking's commitment by the entrepreneur at the time of revocation compared with full compliance with the commitment.

7. The consumer shall not incur any costs for the provision of services or the supply of water, gas or electricity which are not ready for sale in a limited volume or quantity or to supply district heating if:

A. The entrepreneur has not provided the consumer with statutory information on the right of withdrawal, the cost reimbursement or the revocation model form, or;

B. The consumer has not explicitly requested the commencement of the service or gas, water, electricity or district heating service during bedtime.

8. The consumer shall not bear any costs for the full or partial delivery of non-material digital content provided that:

A. He has not expressly agreed to commence compliance with the agreement before the end of the period of notice before delivery.

B. He has not recognized his loss of right of withdrawal in granting his consent; or

C. The entrepreneur has failed to confirm this consumer statement.

9. If the consumer makes use of his right of withdrawal, all additional agreements are terminated by law.

Article 9 - Obligations of the Entrepreneur upon revocation

1. If the trader electronically makes a notification of consumer revocation, he will send a receipt of receipt immediately upon receipt of this notification.

2. The entrepreneur shall reimburse all payments made by the consumer, including any delivery costs incurred by the entrepreneur for the returned product, without delay but within 14 days after the consumer's notification of the withdrawal.

Unless the entrepreneur offers the product itself, he may wait for repayment until he has received the product or demonstrates to the consumer that he has returned the product, whichever is earlier.

3. The entrepreneur uses the same means of payment used by the consumer for repayment unless the consumer agrees with another method. The refund is free for the consumer.

4. If the consumer has chosen a more expensive method of delivery than the cheapest standard delivery, the entrepreneur does not have to pay back the additional cost for the more expensive method.

Article 10 - Exclusion of right of withdrawal

The entrepreneur may exclude the following products and services from the right of withdrawal, but only if the entrepreneur clearly stated this in the offer, at least in time for the conclusion of the agreement:

1. Products or services whose price is subject to fluctuations in the financial market on which the entrepreneur has no influence and which may occur within the period of withdrawal;

2. Agreements that are closed during a public auction. Public auction means a sales method whereby products, digital content and / or services are offered by the entrepreneur to the consumer who is personally present or able to be personally present at the auction under the guidance of an auctioneer and in which the Successful bidder is obliged to take down the products, digital content and / or services;
