Latex clothing

Latex can easily be marked or torn with fingernails if excessive force is used when pulling on your garment. Make sure your garment is well lubricated!!

Wearing

Latex clothes are designed to be tight-fitting. Therefore they can be very difficult to put on without the use of a lubricant. We highly recommend to use a silicone-based lubricant such as 'Pjur Cult Dressing Aid & Conditioner'. Apply a thin coating on your skin and on the inside of the garment.

Polishing

Your garment will be delivered to you unshined. To shine, we recommend to use a latex shine spray such as 'Pjur Cult Ultra Shine'. Do not rub the outer surface of your garment too hard, or with a rough cloth, as the glossy surface can be permanently scratched.

Cleaning

You can wash latex clothes in clean, warm water. Avoid detergents and soaps. Always wipe away excess water with a soft towel and leave to dry flat or hung up to drip dry. Never tumble dry, dry clean or iron your garment.

Storage

Latex clothes are best stored hung up in a cupboard away from sources of heat, light (particularly bright sunlight and strong UV light which will degrade light coloured clothes), metals, oils, solvents, greases and fire. Avoid damp storage conditions.

Enjoy wearing our latex products!
