Terms and Conditions:

Please note that the costs for the return are at your expense. We are not liable for damage and loss of the package. We therefore recommend that you use a track & trace code to ensure that your package has been sent and received.

- If the return package has been received and processed by us, you will receive a confirmation e-mail. After this you will receive the purchase amount excluding the shipping costs on your account within a few days. Please note that we can only refund the amount to the account where the original payment came from.

-Store your proof of shipment until we have received the item back.

-When products are used, worn out, worn, damaged or incomplete, we will not accept the return shipment. The purchase amount will also not be refunded to your account.
